

JULY 2010

NEWS/POLITICS/FOOD/ARTS/SPORTS/FASHION/LIFESTYLE $3.95

OTTAWA LIFE

ARCTIC SERIES

ABORIGINAL SERIES

HILL TALK

The 'A TEAM' of political reporting in Canada — CPAC's Peter Van Dusen, CTV's Tom Clark, the Toronto Star's Tonda MacCharles, CBC's Kathleen Petty and Evan Solomon.

PUBLIC SERVANTS SERIES

Do public servants get a fair shake?

www.ottawalife.com

DISPLAY UNTIL AUGUST 25, 2010

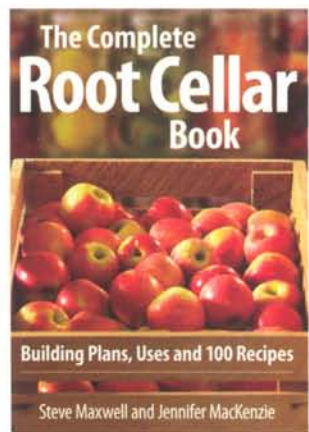

T-fal's Revolutionary Fryer * Owl Rafting * The Plight of Ottawa * Wines of Southern Portugal

best picks

Don't Wine... Just Cellar

There's truly no better or more natural way to store food than in a root cellar. The advantages go beyond increased storage space and simple economy. Root cellaring allows a richer food experience and cultivation of skills that are both fulfilling and globally responsible. This time-honoured tradition can be enhanced by today's leading-edge technologies. Whether you live in a house or a condo, it is possible to create your own root cellar. The Complete Root Cellar Book has detailed instructions on how to build one, advice on how to ensure that the food stored stays wholesome and delicious and 100 recipes that incorporate cellared food into classic and innovative dishes. Steve Maxwell is an award-winning home improvement author and co-author Jennifer MacKenzie is a professional home economist, author and editor. Published by Robert Rose Publishing (ISBN: 0778802434).

Available for $27.95 at all fine bookstores or online at www.fireflybooks.com ■

Looking Sharp

Looking good has never been this quick, easy or inexpensive. T-fal's first-ever steamer is the perfect gift for busy families who want to save on dry-cleaning costs but still have great looking clothes. The fully equipped Optisteam Garment Steamer heats up in 60 seconds, has variable steam settings, and features 1500 watts of power for professional steaming results. Available at The Bay and Home Outfitters for $139.99. ■

Almost Fat Free

Designed with your waistline in mind, the T-fal ActiFry allows families to eat favourite foods guilt-free. Imagine frying 2 pounds of potatoes with only 1 tablespoon of oil. It's as close to real magic as you'll ever experience. Staff tested, these fries were easy to make. Clean up was even easier. The ActiFry comes with a cookbook that includes healthy and delicious dinner recipes like Saucy Pineapple Chicken or Sweet and Sour Pork Tenderloin just to name a couple. ActiFry is available at The Bay and select department stores for $299.99. ■

Get Charged

The U-Powered solar and USB portable charger from Ottawa's KIWI Choice Inc. can store energy from multiple power sources and can be used as both a backup power source and a universal charger for all types of small electronic devices. The U-Powered can be charged through a USB port, a vehicle's DC power port, an AC wall outlet, or the sun. It has a power capacity of 2000 milliampere-hour and 11 free connectors, making it compatible with most cellphones, personal digital assistants, digital music players, and more. KIWI Choice is a leader in developing eco-friendly consumer electronics in North America. Available for $49.99 at www.kiwichoice.com or call (888) 737-5494. ■

